

TITANIC MUSEUMS HONOR THE 135 CHILDREN ON RMS TITANIC

There were 135 children on board Titanic, with ages ranging from 9 weeks to 15 years, each with a story. Our Titanic Museum mission is to shine a light on their young lives, to speak their names, and to honor their legacy.

Each Titanic Museum will have a pair of shoes worn on the Titanic.

The iconic image of the children's shoes serve to capture the spirit of this event and prepare our guests for a powerful new look into Titanic's final days through the eyes of children.

Life begins with baby steps, innocents at sea, each pair of shoes were on a path lined with Hope, Courage & Resiliency.

A NIGHT AT THE TITANIC MUSEUM Flashlight Tours!

A Night at the Titanic Museum Flashlight Tours.
When the lights go dim, and the museum is empty, imagination runs wild. Now, students can experience this special night in a once 'off limits'
exploration of Titanic.

The Titanic crew members will guide the way,
along with your official complimentary Titanic
flashlight to help shed light on a maze of Titanic myths, mysteries, legends & facts.

Time: Available after Titanic Ship Closes.
Minimum of 25 guests.
Reservations Required.

Titanic Murder Mystery

A fabulous dinner party with one deadly secret!
You are cordially invited aboard the Titanic as one of the passengers is poisoned...but why?
And by who?

It's up to you to solve the mystery as the unforgiving iceberg looms in the distance!
Through twists and turns, see why they say,
'Loose lips sink ships' as you decipher pleasantry and prattle, floating between secret & suspicion.

Can your guests solve the mystery? Find out who's guilty...on the RMS Titanic. It's an evening your guests won't forget.

Teachers & Titanic Inspire Students to DREAM BIG!

Titanic has an Education Team ready to accommodate students learning through a creative approach. We supply educational tools for your class.

We hope to inspire engagement in the classroom.

Visit www.TitanicBranson.com or www.TitanicPigeonForge.com and click on the education tab.

Science: TITANIC BUOYANCY

Have students define buoyancy. Ask them why sailing vessels float.

Arts & Social Studies: TITANIC NEWSPAPERS

Have students assume the role of newspaper editors, reporters or survivors to create the front page of a newspaper dated April 15, 1912, which tells the world about the sinking. The front page should look like a newspaper of the time and could include articles about the building of the "unsinkable ship," details of the voyage, feature stories about some of the people on the voyage, the sinking and interviews with survivors. Base coverage on factual information and accounts. Ask students to name their newspaper and create a masthead based on the name and the city of publication. At the Titanic Museum Attraction, students will see newspapers published in 1912.

Geography: TITANIC ROUTE

Read a map based on Titanic's log positions. Map the route of Titanic until it sank. Log all the iceberg locations. From what distance could the iceberg be seen? How did the ship's speed affect the ability of the crew to avoid the icebergs once they were spotted?

Math: TITANIC LIFEBOATS

Use the following data about the Titanic to create and answer at least two math problems:

- When full, the ship could carry 3,511 passengers (2,566 passengers plus 945 crew).
- On her maiden voyage, Titanic carried 2,208 passengers, 1,307 passengers and 891 crew.
- The original design called for 32 lifeboats, but only 20 were on board.
- If each lifeboat could carry about 65 people (59 people on average), approximately 1,180 passengers and crew should have survived, but only 712 made it to safety.
