EXCLUSIVE TO THE TITANIC MUSEUM
ATTRACTION IN BRANSON, MISSOURI

Epic Costume Worn by Leonard DiCaprio in “TITANIC” to go on display!

Titanic Hero’s Bohemian Style Outfit On Limited Display
Starting Thursday, June 9, 2016

Branson, Mo - It’s another first for Titanic Branson...the premier showing of the original, suspended, signature costume worn by Leonardo DiCaprio in his dramatic role as free-spirited, but doomed, Jack Dawson in James Cameron’s masterful “TITANIC.”

This humble, vested costume was first seen in the movie’s open moments when DiCaprio, as young “Jack,” wins a ticket on Titanic in a lucky poker game. Like most third-class passengers he didn’t travel with a change of clothes, so this ensemble outfit - the very one coming to Titanic Branson - was featured in almost every scene, from the poker game beginning to the chilling, final frames.

“TITANIC” is a magnificent costume drama, rich in Gilded Age glamour, beautifully dressed and designed. The lavish costumes of First Class passengers and the rumpled, lived-in apparel found in Third-Class provided a sense of authenticity and honesty that made them the unforgettable, silent stars of the film.

This unique addition to Titanic's Branson's Special Summer Lineup will be on display for a limited time, so plan now to come and stand next to this original, screen-worn movie legend. Tickets are available online at www.titanicbranson.com or by phone at 800-381-7670.
