Fifteen-Hundred Magical Luminaries Will Light the Way to Titanic Museum Attraction Thanksgiving Weekend Thursday - Sunday

Branson, Mo - The corner of 76 Country Boulevard and Gretna Road in Branson will have an exciting new, nighttime glow when the Titanic Museum Attraction lights it's entrance with more than 1,500 enchanting luminaries (festival lights) to welcome visitors to the area and to give them a picture-perfect opportunity to shoot memorable 2016 holiday photos.

"Our luminaries will honor the men, women and children who sailed on R*MS Titanic's* maiden voyage," says co-owner, Mary Kellogg-Joslyn. "The addition of the festival lights to the ship's lavish Edwardian Christmas interior décor, follows a century's old, holiday tradition that's meant to remind us of Mary and Joseph's search for a lodging in Bethlehem. This spiritual, tradition of welcome has continued into modern times as a way of guiding travelers to their destination," adds Kellogg Joslyn.

Titanic's luminaries will be a feast for the eyes, providing stunning, outside photo ops for selfies, friends and followers. Visitors can purchase tickets to continue the special yuletide celebration inside Titanic, where the ship's merry crew will be waiting to take guests on an imagined holiday voyage aboard the RMS Titanic.

"So, whether you're continuing a Branson family tradition or starting a new one, we invite you to join us in giving thanks and sharing blessings of the season at the Titanic Museum Attraction.
